

High Waves / Dangerous Currents Today

Swim Risk... Red=High

- Waves of 3-5 feet are expected, with the largest waves at beaches north of South Haven Today
- Strong structural and long shore currents are expected, especially along south-facing piers and break walls; rip currents are also possible
- Southerly winds of 15-25 mph are expected this morning diminishing some this afternoon
- High wave action alone can make swimming difficult. Incoming waves in rapid succession can tire a swimmer quickly

Wave Heights - 11 am Today